

"NO CURE, NO PAY."

How Wood Bros., Sell Hyomei, the Guaranteed Cure for Catarrh.

Wood Bros., have an unusual offer to make to our readers, one that will be of the greatest value to many.

For many years Wood Bros., have been watching the results from the use of Hyomei, a treatment for catarrh that cures by breathing medicated air, absolutely without any stomach dosing. The results have been so universally successful that they feel justified in making a public offer to treat the worst case of catarrh in Monroe City with the understanding that if Hyomei does not cure, the treatment will cost absolutely nothing.

The regular Hyomei outfit costs only one dollar, and consists of a neat pocket inhaler that can be carried in the purse or vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. If this is not enough for a cure, extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents.

Wood Bros., positively guarantee a cure. If Hyomei is used in accordance with directions, or they will refund the money.

A Pretty Story of Jenny Lind

A beautiful little incident is told concerning Jenny Lind and Grisi, when they were rivals for popular favor in London. Both were invited to sing the same night at a court concert before the Queen. Jenny Lind, being the youngest, sang first and was so disturbed by the fierce, scornful look of Grisi that she was at the point of failure, when suddenly an inspiration came to her. She asked him to rise and took the vacant seat. Her fingers wandered over the keys in a loving prelude, and then she sang a little prayer which she loved—a child's. She hadn't sung it for years. As she sang, she was no longer in the presence of royalty, but singing to loving friends in her fatherland.

Softly at first the plaintive notes floated in the air, swelling louder and richer every moment. The singer seemed to throw her whole soul into that song, weird, thrilling, plaintive "prayer." Gradually the song died away and ended in a sob. There was silence—the silence of admiring wonder. The audience sat spell-bound. Jenny Lind lifted her sweet eyes to look into the scornful face that had so disconcerted her. There was no fierce expression now; instead, a tear-drop glistened on the long, black lashes, and after a moment, with the impulsiveness of a child of the tropics, Grisi crossed to Jenny

Lind's side, placed her arms about her, and kissed her, utterly regardless of the audience.—Exchange.

Every singer of note has had practically the same experience on the stage and to their surprise and sorrow learned: Music is one thing and the science of music is another. The trouble is, the science of music as taught by the leading masters of all days, is not nature.

He Heard Too Much.

The public is invited to sympathize with a quiet and retiring citizen who occupied a seat near the door of a crowded Green Lake car last night when a masterful stout woman entered.

Having no newspaper behind which to hide, he was fixed and subjugated by her glittering eye. He rose and offered his place to her. Seating herself—without thanking him—she exclaimed in tones that reached to the furthest end of the car:

"What do you want to stand up there for? Come here and sit on my lap."

"Madam," gasped the man, and his face became scarlet. "I fear that I am not deserving of such an honor."

"What do you mean?" shrieked the woman. "You know very well I was speaking to my niece there behind you"—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

How Bees Embalm.

From the Minneapolis Journal. Bees can embalm as well as any undertaker. All intruders on their hives are slain and embalmed carefully.

If a worm, or a roach, or any other insect blunders into a hive the bees fall upon him and slay him with their stings. To get the corpse out would be a difficulty; therefore, embalming it, they let it remain.

The embalming process of the bees is simple. It consists of covering the body with a hermetic coat of pure wax. Within this airtight envelope the body remains fresh. It cannot in any way contaminate the hive.

When a snail blunders in among the bees the cannot kill him on account of the protection of his shell. So they embalm him alive. They cover him, shell and all, with snowy wax. He is a prisoner whom only death releases.

C. T. Searcy, county clerk of Boone county, Missouri, recently took his six year daughter with him on a visit to the capital. The child was not satisfied until her father took her into Governor Folk's private office. On coming out she said: "I'm ready to go now. I saw how big he was."

W. T. C. U. COLUMN.

Through the courtesy of the DEMOCRAT this space is reserved for the W. C. T. U. It is edited by Ella L. Snearman, District Press Superintendent of the W. C. T. U., who is responsible for all statements which appear in this column.

Our Watchwords: Organize, Educate, Agitate.

OUR PRINCIPLES.

Total abstinence, Prohibition of the liquor traffic, One standard of morals for men and women. The education of public sentiment for right.

The L. T. L. will meet next Sunday at 3:30 p. m. Miss Iona Phelps the faithful leader.

Special attention will be given this season to flower mission work.

The temperance cause is advancing and the W. C. T. U. is playing a splendid part in this onward march. If every member of the local union will be active and aggressive and every superintendent enthusiastic and energetic and every woman work earnestly, we may hope for the glad day of which we sing, when there will be no saloons and this great curse shall be banished forever from our land.

The last meeting was entertained in the home of Mrs. J. W. Johnston and was a pleasant affair. Several new members were received. "Blest be the tie that binds" was sung and the Aaronic Benediction pronounced.

The newest feature of the Union Signal the Official Organ is the course of study for individuals, and unions. To be a workman that needeth not be ashamed, a W. C. T. U. woman needs the Union Signal, as much as a carpenter needs a hammer and saw to build a house.

Miss Anthony, the Great Benefactor

Reports of memorial meetings and resolutions are pouring in from all parts of the country. The newspaper tributes are so many that a volume would be required to hold all that came to her own home town paper. Almost every organization of women in Rochester passed resolutions on her death. The students of Rochester University, the principals, and Teachers Association, the Churches, the Temperance Societies, the Women's Clubs and many other organizations vied with one another in tributes. Most remarkable of all the Grand Jury of Monroe, N. Y., adjourned as a mark of respect to attend the funeral, after passing the resolution that she represented the highest type of womanhood in her unselfish devotion to the cause of right and liberty and equal justice for all regardless of sex. She carries with her the blessings of the down trodden and the gratitude of her generation. In greater degree perhaps than any other person was she the noted champion of equal rights. As a result of the movement she led, women are now voting with men in four States of the Union, in Australia and New Zealand while they exercise partial suffrage in twenty-nine of our States, in Canada and in rural European countries.

Roy McFarland, of Rensselaer, was a business visitor in the city Saturday.
